New Starters and Alternators

The advertisement features a central image of a black sports car, possibly a Ferrari, with its headlights on. Two automotive components are highlighted with orange starburst effects: an alternator in the upper right and a starter motor in the lower left. The car is surrounded by a red border. On the left side of the car, a vertical list of car brands is displayed with their respective logos. On the right side, another vertical list of car brands is shown, also with logos. The background is a light, textured surface.
